

AEDES ALBOPICTUS

LOCATION:

Tropical and subtropical regions of the world

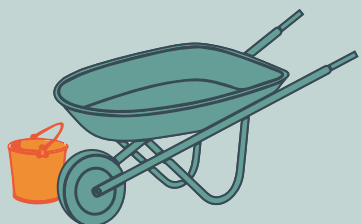

This map represents an estimate of the potential range of Aedes albopictus. It is not meant to represent risk for spread of disease.

4.0 - 7.0 mm / 0.16 - 0.28 in

FACTS:

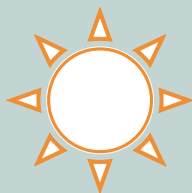

Often lays eggs in containers.

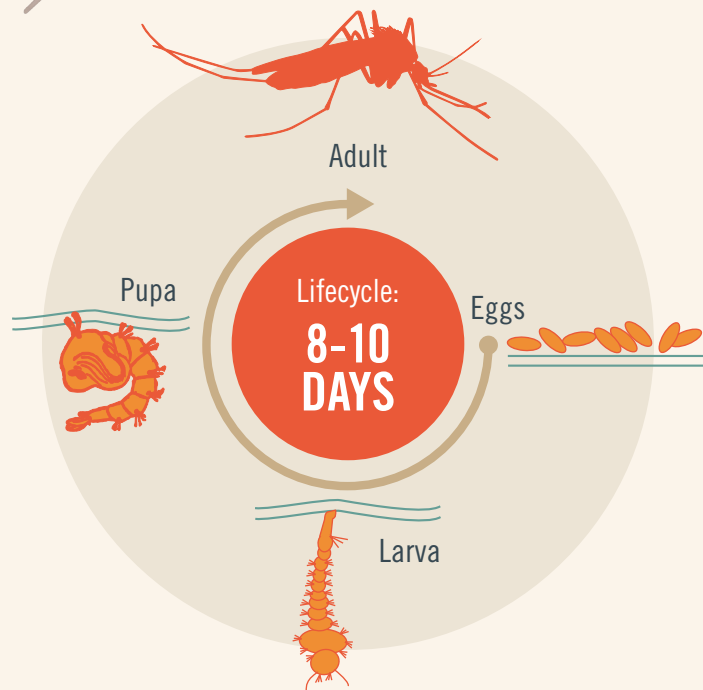

Bites humans and other mammals.

Striped appearance gives it the "tiger" name.

Primarily a daytime biter but will also bite at night.

CAN SURVIVE
In cooler climates.

FOUND
Around homes and buildings in rural and urban areas.

LEARN MORE: SCJOHNSON.COM/MOSQUITOES

BROUGHT TO YOU BY SC JOHNSON, A FAMILY COMPANY.